George W. Cornelius—a merchant and farmer—served in the Civil War. He was a leader in the Methodist Church. The latter part of his life was passed in Shirley, Penn., where he served as squire and had a general store. He was also the author of a short history of his family.

The Gilberts were wholesale druggists in Baltimore. Margaret always liked the name of Cornelius and declared if she ever had a son she would name him Cornelius, not dreaming at the time that all her children would be named Cornelius.

For record of David Cornelius see Chapter VII, page 27.

William Cornelius lived in Hagerstown, Md., with his daughter, Mrs. Pearl Malott, in 1927—a splendid character. He had a tradition given by his uncle, George Cornelius, that the family was of Norman descent and the first to come to Maryland was as secretary to Cecil Calvert—Lord Baltimore—1632. It also records the fact that the city of Baltimore was built on land owned by the Chilcoats. It is doubtful if any Cornelius came over with Calvert, as the records show them landing in Baltimore early in 1700.

William Cornelius while traveling in Europe found a group of paintings in the palace at Mayence, executed by Rudolph Cornelius. His son Cecil while in London got considerable data of the family and Coat of Arms.

BEDFORD COUNTY LINE

Starting with Benjamine Cornelius (1804-1874) we find he is evidently from another line. His wife, however, was Sarah Chilcoat, probably of the Baltimore family, while two of his daughters married two brothers—sons of James Cornelius, another line, but who married Sarah Cornelius, daughter of Benjamine Cornelius, son of Abram of Baltimore. It is a hard tangle to straighten and to make it worse Benjamine F., son of the Benjamine who married Delilah Cornelius, was married twice, the second wife being Ann E. Grove, and from this union came the line recorded in Chapter VII, Page 27, while the descendants of Elizabeth Cornelius and Joseph Cornelius—son of Sarah and James—are incorrectly recorded in Chapter IX, Page 7.

The following pages record the data of the Bedford County line as given by Mlidred Cornelius of Pasadena, California, and Martha Cornelius of Washington, Penn., both descendants of these two lines and both nurses with splendid records of service. Much credit must be given them for their help in this work.—C. S. C.

We have no certain information as to the direct line of Peter Cornelius. It is possible he is the same as the Peter, son of Benjamine, Page 1 this Chapter. The objection to this is a possible variation in birthdates, and no record of a brother Reuben. However, he lived at Burnt Cabin and was without doubt one of the Cornelius families who settled there and was probably a descendant of the Baltimore Line. (Information given by Mildren Cornelius.)

History Rising Sun, Indiana

George Cornelius of Milan, Ind., thinks that John—and his three sons came into Pennsylvania about 1750 from ..... and his three sons, John, George and Absolom, came down the Ohio to Boone Co., Ky. He thinks there were other brothers and sisters (see Pages 35 and 42, Chapter IX).

Mrs. Brewster claims these men were cousins of the Rev. William Huff Cornelius and it seems more than likely that they were grandsons of Abram Cornelius of Baltimore, while the William Cornelius on Page 35, Chapter IX is more likely a son of Isaac, who was a brother of Abram as stated by Miss Burroughs. However, it is certain that all these families came from the Baltimore branch.

Mrs. Graber gives a very interesting account of the old home on the banks of the Ohio and the old Colonial home across the river, where Inez Abbott Piatt lived (Page 37, Chap. IX).

A later account gives the dates of settling in Baltimore as around 1675 and it is not at all unlikely that all these Baltimore families were descendants of Daniel Cornelius, son of Aaron, who came over in 1639 and settled on Long Island, N. Y. This would connect all these families and settle both the fact that they were English and that they came from Holland. The later English families came from this stock.

LETTERS

Copy of letters from A. C. McMullen, clerk of Boon County Courthouse,, to Mrs. E. D. Graber of New York:

"The only records I find of the Cornelius family is that John Cornelius and Nancy Morris were married at Burlington, Ky., June 3- 1812.

Absalom Cornelius and Harriet Smith were married October 19, 1818.

Tehese were no doubt brothers, and John Cornelius the grandfather of Mrs. Graber. He was married twice and left a daughter by his first wife, Edna Cornelius, who lived in Boon County, Ky. It is possible she is the same one who married Benjamine Gaines (Chap. IX, Page 46).

Copy of letter from M. A. Shaw, President of the Dearborn County, Indiana, Historical Society, to Mrs. Graber:

"In the records of the courthouse I find record of the marriage of John G. Cornelius and Mary Ann Elizabeth Hill, October 11, 1836."

Henry Cornelius married Lydia Ann Smith, May 16, 1839.

Cyrus H. Akers married Harriet Cornelius, August 10, 1845.

Covington Cornelius and Ann Abbott were married September 27, 1834."

This Covington Cornelius was probably the son of James (see Chap. IX, Page 8). This would lead one to think that James was probably a brother of the John mentioned above, and they are more than likely descendants of the Baltimore line.

Notes.—Absalom Cornelius was born in North Carolina and moved to Virginia while quite young. He was married there to Elizabeth Cotton, daughter of a Baptist minister and a splendid type of womanhood. Mr .Cornelius was engaged in farming and lumbering and in 1832 moved to Iowa. In 1845 he joined a wagon train of fifty wagons and crossed the plains to Oregon via St. Joseph, Mo., and the Platte River trail, leaving in May and arriving at The Dalles in October. From there they reached Oregon City in a flat boat. In this same wagon train was the family of Benjamine Cornelius noted on Pge 28, Chap. IX. Absalom left his household goods and cattle at The Dalles for the winter, while he settled on a claim of 640 acres east of Oregon City. Here he built a sawmill and cleared a fine farm. In 1850 he took up a claim of 640 acres in Marion county, built another mill and cleared another fine dairy and cattle farm and set out orchards that are not excelled anywhere in Oregon. He was one of the outstanding figures in the county. With his kinsman, Col. T. R. Cornelius, he was in the early history of Oregon chosen by the Indians as the arbitrator in their differences and difficulties and his decisions were always abided by. His children were all noted as good citizens. Only one child is still living, Sophie S., wiow of N. O. Parker, living in Portland, Oregon. Of his sons, Absalom was county commissioner and county assessor of Marion county. Samuel was in the Cayuse and Rogue River wars. Green B. was noted as a public speaker. George was a nurseryman, dairyman and farmer. Moses was a lumberman and politicin and all were fraternity men, members of the Masonic bodies, Eastern Star and Grange, also consistent church workers.

HISTORY

Green B. Cornelius was born in Iowa and came with his family across the plains when eight years old. When 18 he bought a stock farm in Clackamas county, Oregon, and was always noted as a breeder of fine stock, taking many prizes for his registered stock. Hhe also raised fine fruit, specializing in apples, cherries and prunes. In 1902 he acquired a hop farm south of Turner and in 1910 retired from active business—a successful farmer and a public-spirited citizen. His wife was a very accomplished woman, a teacher, member of the Eastern Star and active in church work. She was born in Virginia in 1836, a daughter of the Hon. Samuel Parker, a member of the first Territorial Legislature in Oregon and well known for his public services. He died 11-7-1910.

Notes—For account of the life of Rev. Samuel Cornelius see Chap. X, Page 56. Samuel Jr. was also a Baptist minister and died at Little Rock, Arkansas. No record is given of his family. His brother William was a lawyer. No record of his family.

There is a certain amount of uncertainty regarding the connection of the St. Joseph Line of the family. The first of the name of Benjamine may have come from one of the Baltimore families as they were scattered through the south. By dates it is possible that Benjamine was a son of Mathew who was of the English Line and that they were descendents of John, son of Aaron (Chap. I, Page 3 and Chap. VII, Page 29). Our best information at present only goes back to his coming from Tennessee to Buchanan Co., Missouri, eight miles north of St. Joseph.

JAMES MOTT (a cousin of John) B 1788 D 1868 M 1811 at New Partners, Dutchess Co., N. Y., to Lucretia Coffin (B 1-3-1793 at Nantucket, Mass.)

Children

Biography was given by Anna Davis Hallwood of Boston (1884), a granddaughter of James Mott. He was a teacher in the Friend's School at Nine Partners and there met Lucretia Coffin, a pupil from Nantucket, Mass. They were married in 1811. He was afterwards in business with Mr. Coffin in Philadelphia but failed and Mrs. Mott opened a boarding school in 1817 in Philadelphia, under the care of the Pine St. Monthly Meeting. In 1822 she was made an Elder in the Friend's Church. James Mott espoused the cause of Elias Hicks and was a leader in the Hicksite Church. Mrs. Mott was a nationally known lecturer and leader in the Anti-Slavery and Woman's Suffrage movements and in 1844 was associated with Elizabeth Cady Stanton. In 1864 James Mott was one of the founders of Swartmore College. He died at Albany, New York, in 1868.

Notes—The family of Minnie L. Cornelius Lower are all noted for exceptional musical ability. Graydon and Nathan Lower for many years were members of Souza's band; Doreen ,a fine singer; Hildreth and Marjorie, pianists and teachers of music. Hildreth is master of the pipe organ while William Henry is master of the violin. The Cornelius family has been noted for the musical ability of its members and the number of expert musicians in its ranks.

Biographical and Historical Sketches

With Illustrations

For the material in these sketches the Author is indebted to Miss Tillie Cornelius and Miss Elizabeth Cornelius of Portland, Oregon; Mrs. Mabel G. Blum, and Mrs. Mary C. Williamson of Youngstown, Ohio, and others.

Rachel Cornelius was born in Lafayette, Indiana, June 10, 1833. Her parents were William McKinney and Ann Walter McKinney. Chapter XI, Page 74.

She crossed the Plains in 1845 and settled in Washington county. In July, 1851, she married Benjamine Cornelius, the Cornelius family having crossed the Plains the same year. They lived at Forest Grove until Mr. Cornelius' death in 1880. She then moved to Portland, as her son was in business there.

Mrs. Cornelius had four children, Sarah C. Van Horn, Dr. C. W. Cornelius, Tillie F. Cornelius and Harry L. Cornelius, an adopted son, and a grand-daughter, Mrs. F. F. Brower, all of whom were at her bedside at the time of her death, except Harry, who was in the east in school. She was also survived by two brothers, William McKinney of Waitsburg, Washington, and Newton McKinney of Montaville.

Her love for Oregon and Portland in particular, was beautiful but it was not to be wondered at for she saw Portland grow from a village of three houses to our present magnificent city.

An uncle, Hugh Obrient, was the first mayor of Portland. Mrs. Cornelius was gentle and retiring and thoroughly devoted to her home and friends. Unlike many elderly people, she did not live in the past but was keenly awake to the doings and needs of the present, although to a few she would sometimes tell of the experiences they had "crossing the Plains" and of the dangers and hardships they had to undergo for a long time after reaching there. Food was so scarce they were at times forced to live on boiled wheat.

When she was five years old they went to Illinois and after a treaty with the Indians which threw Iowa open to settlement, they moved to Iowa until the spring of 1844 when they started for Oregon.

That was a very wet year and in consequence the streams were high and bridges out, which delayed them so long they missed the wagon train they expected to go with, at St. Joseph, Mo., and they decided to stay there until spring, while the children went to school there.

St. Joe in those days was the "jumping off place" for all the Indian country to west as well as the great plains to the north and west. As she tells the story: "I used to be greatly interested in the pack-trains tha came out of the great unknown, stayed a little while and with their Mexican drivers disappeared over the rim of the horizon. There were six of us children, Charley, Isabel, myself, James, William and Jasper. There were only a few permanent residents of St. Joe at this time. Among them was a Frenchman named Joseph Robidoux, who was founder of St. Joe. He was a trapper and trader among the Indians and had an Indian wife and half-breed children. He came to St. Joe in 1826 and ran a trading station at Roy's Branch and later at Black Snake Hills where a postoffice was established in 1840. The name was changed to St. Joseph in July, 1843. The year we left it was the county seat and outfitting place for California miners, wagon trains, and later the eastern terminus of the Pony Express.

The spring of 1845 there was an exodus for Oregon. Several companies left from St.. Joseph. In our company there were 65 wagons. W. W. Walter, Rachel McKinney's uncle, joined this company with three wagons, 15 yoke of oxen and 30 head of cattle and three horses.

They elected Sol Tetherow as captain. He had two grown daughters about the age of Rachel McKinney. With the company were also Rachel's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Walter, their two children and two grandchildren, Joe and Eliza Ann Allred, James Miller, the Charltans, Wooleys, Adams, Byers and Benjamine Cornelius and family. There were four girls about the same age and always together —Rachel McKinney, Ellen Wooley, Mary Tetherow and Isabel Miller.

"We used to start out in the morning ahead of the wagons to keep uot of the dust. I can remember how curious the antelopes were. They would run away and stop, then look back, come up close and then run away again a little way. One day we saw a cloud of dust and thought Indians were coming but it turned out to be a small herd of buffalo. Once we were stampeded by buffalo which caused a lot of trouble."

W. W. Walter, Mrs. Cornelius' uncle, tells of a stampede as follows—imagine, if you can—"Our 65 wagons with from three to five yoke of oxen each, tearing along at full speed, women screaming, children tumbling out and scattering over the prairie." After running two miles they were stopped and it took two days to repair the broken wagons and ox-bows.

A large band of Indians stopped them at Fort Laramie and demanded flour for the buffalo hides, but they compromised by cooking the Indians a full meal of bread, coffee, bacon and dried fruits.

At another time several hundred Indians approached on horseback shouting and yelling so, the men covered the wagons putting the women and children inside, and prepared to defend themselves. Their guide was a man named Greenwood, who had married a Crow Indian woman and had his two half-breed sons with him and was able to gain permission to cross the hills provided the company would trade with the Indians who wanted guns, and exchanged horses for them, but the next night they stole the horses and got away with them.

While on the Plains a band of Pawnees stampeded the stock by shooting among the cattle and as a result broke several wagons and Mrs. Wooley had her leg broken.

Near the Snake River Wm. Walter traded his gun for a beautiful Spanish horse and that night an Indian stole the horse.

"At the Snake River we met Dr. Elijah White, an Indian agent in Oregon, on his way East and he told of a short-cut to the Williamett Valley. Stephen Meek said he knew the short-cut and about 200 wagons decided to take this route. After crossing the Malhem Mountains they struck bad country with lava out-croppings which made the cattle's feet sore, while the grass was scarce and bad water resulted in 'mountain fever and much sickness. The men of the train got sore at Meek, so he crossed the river, got horses, and hurried on to the Dalles where he secured a man named Moses Haws to meet the settlers with food. Between 20 and 30 people died as a result of following Meek, and they lost many cattle.

"On reaching the river at the Dalles it was so late all the boats were gone, so lashing the wagon boxes together and with rafts of logs, we went down the river."

The boys drove the stock by the Indian trail. In this way they got down to the Cascades and crossed by a portage the worst six miles of road on the trip, taking three days to make it.

At Fort Vancouver Dr. McLaughlin provided them with food—the first full meals for many weeks. Here they got boats from the Hudson Bay company, landing at the head of Sauvies Island, crossing the Willamette Slough, where they put the wagons together and pulled out for Tualamie Plains. The Walters and McKinneys were met at the Cascades by Capt. Cook's sloop that took them to Vancouver.

McKinney got boats to take them to Linnton. One boat was overloaded and sank at the wharf with no damage except a good wetting. At Linnton they met the oxen drove out into Washington Co., five miles from Hillsboro.

We had a much easier time coming across than many, as we had a Dutch oven and good reflector and plenty of light bread, also good cows, so we had plenty of milk, butter and cheese, with dried fruit, bacon and beans as well, and buffalo and antelope meat.

We reached our destination in Washington Co. a few days before the New Year and in the summer of 1846 we children went to school with twenty or thirty pupils. In the fall of 1848 William McKinney, Benjamine Cornelius and Mrs. Walter and two sons, went to California for gold, returning in 1850."

Benjamine Cornelius was very successful. On July 15, 1851 Rachel McKinney, 18 years old, married Benjamine Cornelius, the ceremony conducted by Rev. Wm. Jolly. They moved six miles from Forest Grove on the North Plains.

Benjamine Cornelius' brother, Thomas, was appointed colonel in 1861 and authorized to raise ten companies of cavalry. These companies were retained on the coast, operating from Walla Walla during the Civil War.

William Walter, Benjamine Cornelius, Colonel Tom Cornelius, Daniel and Wm. McKinney, all served in the Yakima Indian War.

The only wound Benjamine Cornelius received was a shot through a plug of tobacco, tearing that and his pocket in pieces.

Mrs. Cornelius tells of exciting times before and during the Civil War. Benjamine Cornelius Sr. was from Tennessee and wanted Oregon to come in as a slave state. All the younger generation wanted it to be a free state and spirited discussions were the result. The Cayuse War was precipitated by the killing of Dr. Whitman and his family. The Cayuse Indians got the other tribes, consisting of Spokanes, Coeur d'Alenes, Pen D'Oreilles and upper River tribes to join them by representing that the whites were killing the Hudson Bay people and had killed Tom McKay, who was a friend of the Indians.

Colonel Gillman told the chief of the Indians this was a lie, and Crow Eagle, a Cayuse medicine man, turned upon McKay and threatened to kill him, and as a result was shot by McKay. The other tribes pulled out and left the Cayuse Indians to fight their own battles.

The Indians were no match for the settlers, who drove them out in a running fight lasting some three months. In this war Colonel Tom Cornelius distinguished himself as a scout and for his bravery. W. W .Walters tells of some of their experiences:

"While scouting with Tom Cornelius and another young fellow, the Indians tried to cut us off. The young fellow lost his nerve and when hit in the leg by an arrow thought he was killed and fell off his horse. Tom and I jumped off and cursed him good and plenty until we got him mad and he forgot his wound. We helped him on his horse and all three got out as fast as we could go.

We had hard work carrying our wounded on litters made from blankets and poles. We camped at Dry Creek in a cold rain which changed to sleet and snow, and with little to eat, we had a bad night but a runner to the Missions brought wagons for the wounded and reinforcements brought food, and we spent the next two months hunting Indians."

In the trip to the California gold fields they had several skirmishes with Indians. One day they missed some of the cattle that had back-tracked and Ben Cornelius and W. W. Walters went back after them following them for 60 miles and were shot at several times by Indians and had to give up the chase and returned to camp, making the 120 miles in one day.—From information given by Mrs. Tillie Cornelius of Portland.

EMMA CORNELIUS BLUM

The father of Benjamine Cornelius, Chap. II, Page 68, was born in 1764 in South Carolina. He moved to Kentucky while a young man, and in 1820 moved to Missouri where he died in 1845.

There were ten children in his family (Page 68, Chap. II). His son, Benjamine, was born in Chester Co., Kentucky, as was his wife, Elizabeth Adams, whom he married in Howard Co., Missouri. They crossed the Plains in 1849 and were the first settlers of Cornelius Plains, Washington Co., Oregon. Both he and his wife died at Cornelius Plains, Oregon, she in 1864 and he in 1880.

Elizabeth Adams Cornelius's father was Thomas Adams, born in Kent Co., England, in 1794. He came to Kentucky with his parents in 1810. Thomas Adams married Polly Davis. His father, James, was born in Ireland, married Agnes Wilson, and had twelve boys and three girls.

James Adams was a cousin of President John Adams. Polly Davis, wife of Thomas Adams, was a daughter of Samuel Davis, a native of Georgia. In 1778 he raised a company of militia and joined the Continental Army at Savannah, Georgia. At the close of the Revolution he married Jane Cook. They had a large family. Polly Davis being one of the daughters. She was married to Thomas Adams and six children were born to them. Elizabeth married Benjamine Cornelius. This gives all of her descendants rights in both D. A. R. and S. A. R.

Emma L. Cornelius was the thirteenth child of Benjamine and Elizabeth Adams Cornelius. She was born in the second log house built at Cornelius Plains. As the youngest child, many of her playmates were her nephews and nieces and she often told how her nephew, Scott—Judge T. S. Cornelius of Astoria—and herself hitched themselves up with a calf, the calf running away and the youngsters having to send out an S. O. S. She had a keen sense of humor as well as a deep spiritual understanding, which helped her through many difficulties and made her a favorite with all who knew her.

She joined the Congregational Church when a young lady, studied art at St. Helen's Hall in Portland and became very proficient in the use of water colors, oil, crayon and made many beautiful tapestries. Her best work was portraits and she was commissioned by the state to paint portraits of several governors of Oregon, which hang in the state capitol. In 1891 she lost most of her work by fire, and again in the earthquake and fire of 1906 in San Francisco sustained another loss of most of her work, but in spite of all has left some very fine work. She also wrote considerable poetry.

She will long be remembered by the boys she entertained during the World War. Her last years were spent in Hollywood. She was never known to speak an unkind word or any ill of anyone—a most beautiful and unselfish life. In 1886 she married Isaac Blum and three children were born to this union. See Page 80, Chap II.

Jane Cornelius

Jane Cornelius, daughter of Austin and Margaret Cornelius, was born in Pennington, South Carolina, 2-11-1798, and lived there until 1802; moved to Christian Co., Kentucky until 1803, to Newlandberg,' Ohio, and in 1804 back to Robinson Co., Kentucky, where they were in 1812 during the earthquake. In 1812 when 14 years old, they moved to Lincoln Co., Tennessee. She remembered General Andrew Jackson and his command passing her father's house during the Creek War.

In 1817 they moved to Jules Co., Tennessee where her father died in 1818 at the age of 51, leaving a wife and nine children. They moved to Bedford Co. until 1819 and from there to the Cherokee Nation, now Marion Co., Tennessee. She lived there until her marriage on January 22, 1823, to Henry E. Dooley, son of Mathew Dooley.

In October, 1831, they moved to Big River, Missouri, and in 1823 to Polk Co., but the Indians drove them from there and they moved to Springfield until 1833 when they went to Bolivia and in 1837 settled at Dooley's Bend, Hickory Co., until her death on March 19, 1888. Henry E. Dooley was born in Georgia, 3-12-1799, and died at Dooley's Bend, 11-3-1849.

Col. Thomas Ramsey Cornelius, Chap. II, Page 69; Chap. IX, Page 29

Colonel Thomas Ramsey Cornelius, son of Benjamine, crossed the Plains from Missouri with his father in 1845. He was born in Howard Co., Missouri in 1827 and was 18 years of age at the time they came west and took up a land claim four miles north of the present town of Cornelius, Oregon. He was the oldest of 13 children and lived with hs parents until 21, when he took up a land claim adjoining his father's, which he held for fifty years.

When the news of the massacre of Dr. Whitman and others became known, Col. Tom enlisted as a private in a company formed to prevent the Indians from destroying the settlers in the Willamette Valley. He furnished his own equipment and horse and took part in five battles and was promoted to sergeant. His brother, eBnjamine, was also in this war, known as the Cayuse Indian War. In the last battle, known as the Battle of the Towchet, near Bowles Junction, Washington, the Indians outnumbered the militia ten to one, but the superior marksmanship and skill of the Missouri emigrants soon put them to rout with great loss.

Soon after this the "gold fever" struck California and Col. Thomas, like many others, joined the rank of miners and in 1848 was on the American fork of the Mokelumne and the Stanislaus, and was very successful, taking out in one day over $300 in gold. He returned to Oregon in '49 and was married on February 14, 1850 to Florentine Wilkes, whose family crossed the Plains with his father.

When the Indian War broke out in 1855 Col. Thomas Cornelius enlisted in Co. D, Washington Volunteers, and was elected captain under Col. Nesmeth. He made a fine record in the engagements that followed, crossing the Cascades. He was cited for courage in running all day and night in a forced march to relieve Col. Kelly, who was surrounded by Indians.

On the resignation of Col. Nesmeth, Captain Cornelius was appointed to the vacancy. Soon after, they entered an offensive campaign on the Snake River which was very successful, and concluded treaties with the Indians that ended the war.

In 1856 he was elected to the Territorial Legislature and was re-elected each term for twenty years. He was twice elected prsident of the Senate and was a strong factor in the government of the Territory at that time. In 1861 he was commissioned by President Lincoln to raise a regiment of Volunteer Cavalry in Oregon and was assigned to service on the Pacific coast.

While stationed at Walla Walla in 1862 he resigned and returned to his home in Oregon. He built a large grain warehouse in 1871, and also a sawmill near Cornelius, which was afterwards moved to Forest Grove. He promoted the railroad out to Cornelius, which was named after him. He was always a staunch Republican and supporter of the church, and a true citizen. In 1886 he was defeated for governor by Sylvester Pennoyer.

About 1708 three brothers, Benjamine, James and Peter Glascock, came to Virginia from England and received grants of land from the Crown, located near the town of Centerville.

Benjamine Glascock's son, George, married Elizabeth Brook, daughter of Benjamine Brook and Hannah Gilson, all pre-Revolutionary families. George Glascock, after his marriage, moved to Missouri where three children were born, Laura Frances, William Franklin and Benjamine Brooke. In 1849 they crossed the Plains to California and settled in Yolo County.

Absalom Cornelius, a son of Absalom Cornelius, crossed the Plains with his parents in 1845. He was born in Henry Co., Iowa, near the city of Burlington, January 2, 1839. He remained on the homestead taken up by his father in Marion Co., Oregon, until 21 years of age, when he left for Southern Oregon and followed mining in Josephene Co. for about one year, then followed the same calling in Florence, Idaho. Somewhat dissatisfied with miner's life, he returned to Marion Co. and located on a part of his father's farm about two and one-half miles southwest of Turner, continuing to live there for ten years actively and successfully engaged in farming. On September 20, 1868, he was married to Miss Lavina Powell, daughter of Elder Noah Powell, who was well and favorably known throughout the Willamette Valley as a minister of the Christian church.

Mr. Cornelius formerly owned 225 acres of land one mile from Marion Village, it being the property owned by Elder Powell in Marion Co. In March, 1903, he sold his farm and retired to Jefferson, where he invested in real estate, remodeling the comfortable home on the place and living there in comfort until his death. For thirty years Mr. Cornelius was engaged in general farming and stock raising, making a specialty of Jersey cattle.

Five children were born to him: Flora, wife of F. L. George of Salem, Oregon; Emily, wife of C. O. Green of Oakland, Oregon; Annie, wife of J. W. Cardwell; Nettie, wife of George Van Buren, station agent for the Southern Pacific R. R.; Maude, wife of J. S. Roberts of Portland, Oregon; and Rodney, the only son, who is a telegraph operator at Drain, Oregon, in the employ of the Southern Pacific R. R. His daughter, Nora, is deceased.

Mr. Cornelius served as county commissioner for two years, as assessor for four years and was a member of the school board for ten years. In politics he was a Republican. He was a member of the Masonic Order for twenty-two years.

Aaron Cornelius was preparing a book on the Cornelius Family of the Northwest but no trace of it can be found. He was chief of police of Portland, Oregon, at one time. He was a great politician with many friends.

He married Jane Mann, a woman of great beauty. Both are deceased.

Samuel Cornelius, son of Absalom Cornelius, participated in the Cayuse and Rogue River Wars. He married Martha Nordyke. He is deceased.

Late in 1700 three brothers came from near Lancaster or from Baltimore and settled in or near Pittsburgh, on Neville Island, which is the third large island in the Ohio River below Pittsburgh, and between that city and Coraopolis.

The greater part of the island belonged, in the early days, to the Cornelius family and there in the old Presbyterian churchyard may be found the graves of many of the family. Dysart Cornelius, B-8-20-1804, D-8-27-1884, and his wife, Majora White, B-1-23-1809, D-12-14-1870, and their children; also the graves of the children of Josiah (B-2-9-1807) at Roanoke, Virginia. His wife was Ellen Patterson of Sisterville, Va,

Here also was the grave of Margaret, wife of Mexwell Cornelius, born in 1779 and died in 1862. She was the great1grandmother of Frank Cornelius and gives the children of Maxwell and Margaret Cornelius as Josiah, Absolem, John, Abagail, Margaret, Dysart, Jesse, and Maxwell. This ties in a number of different families.

Josiah and Dysart came up the river from Sisterville and settled on the island in 1833. Report says they bought the lower end of the island from the Indians. There is no doubt that all of these descended from the Baltimore families and it is possible that they were descendants of Daniel Cornelius, who was born on Long Island, N. Y., late in 1600, second son of Aaron Cornelius, who came from Holland in 1645 as the first Cornelius in America born in England but sailing from Vlessengen.

From the Huntington Courthouse I have gathered some interesting items which may or may not be helpful to you:

Nov. 5, 1796 Indenture between Daniel Cornelius and Abr. Wright.

Dec. 17, 1824 Indenture between Samuel Cornelius of Springfield township and Nancy, his wife, and Wm. Cornelius of same township.

Dec. 25, 1835 John Cornelius and his wife, Elizabeth, of Henderson township sold to John Brown, teacher, land which had been conveyed by deed to John Cornelius.

1809 Release. Joshua Cornelius of Springfield township and Mary, his wife, son and heir of late John Cornelius, Samuel and Nancy Ann, his wife. Peter and Elizabeth, his wife.

Geo. Staines and Mary, his wife, daughter of John, Release for sum of 5 shillings all their claims to tract of land in Springfield township bounded on north by Samuel Cornelius, etc., now in possession of Benjamine Cornelius and released to him, his heirs and assigns forever.

June 9,1833 Renunciation of Nancy, widow and relict of Samuel, Apr. 14, 1841. Renunciation of Susan, widow and relict of John C., Cromwell township.

Mar. 28,1805 Renunciation of Eleanor, widow and relict of John.

Aug. 23, 1850 Aaron Stains, appointed guardian of Mary and Prudence Cornelius, St. Clair township, Bedford Co., minor daughters of John Cornelius. Said daughters are granddaughters of Joshua Cornelius, late of Springfield township (died about 1823. B. Rinker and James Cornelius appointed executors).

July 19, 1832 Joshua to son, John, sorrell mare and two colts, one saddle and bridle, furrow plow and gears for two horses, one chopping axe, two beds of his choice and sufficient bedding for same, two cows and calves and two yearlings, six sheep, four hogs and all grain on the place. With child's part with rest of six heirs, Eleanor Rinker, James Coughenour, John Cornelius, Jane Grimes, Margaret Coughenour, Ann Coughenour, John Cornelius. If daughter, Jane Grimes, dies without child her part to be divided between other heirs. Son James and Benjamine Rinker appointed executors.

1796 Peter Cornelius bought land of Thomas Cornelius.

Feb. 16, 1887 Benjamine Cornelius, son of Christopher and Eliza, married Jennie, Marion, formerly Jennie Dixon.

April 17, 1782 Robt. Cheggage vs. Joseph Cornelius, Bedford Co. records. (Huntingdon Co. was at one time a part of Bedford Co.)

I did not have time to go over many of the marriages but they are of comparatively recent date and most of them of the Saltillo families.

Baltimore Records

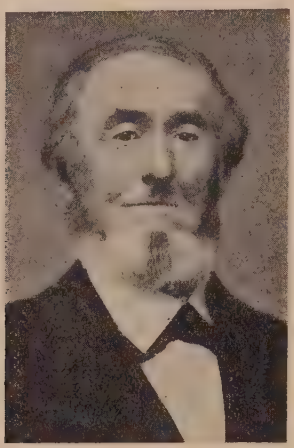
St. Thomas Parish records the following births:

1—Joseph Cornelius, son of John Cornelius and Eleanor. B 8-15-1752.
2—William Cornelius, son of John Cornelius and Eleanor. B 2-15-1754.
3—John Cornelius, son of John Cornelius and Eleanor. B 5-25-1756.
4—Joshua Cornelius, son of John Cornelius and Eleanor. B 12-26-1758.
5—Samuel Cornelius, son of John Cornelius and Eleanor. B 5-28-1761.

It is possible that they were the sons of John and Eleanor mentioned at the top page ??? this series.

There are quite a number of names in the records of Shrewsbury Parish, Kent Co. Also some from Ann Arundel Co., but as you probably have all those things as well as a copy of the early settlers list, I will not repeat them.

In the Shrewsbury record there is a report of the birth of Abraham and Isaac, the latter born in 1745, sons of Daniel by Elizabeth. In the first census of the U. S. I find an Isaac in Pemra, East Nottingham township, which I think is in Chester Co.



MAXWELL CORNELIUS

MARY ANN ANDERSON

Maxwell Cornelius 3rd., son of Samuel Cornelius (Chap. II, Page 82) was born 3-10-1811 in Pittsburgh, Penn. His youngest son, Rev. Samuel A. Cornelius, said his father was a farmer. We know he was a fine citizen and raised a splendid family of eleven children, all of whom but one lived to manhood and womanhood. Two sons became noted ministers, two gave splendid service to their country during the Civil War and the other a fine record of citizenship in home city. At the age of 20 he married Mary Ann Anderson (born in Ireland) in Pittsburgh. She was a woman of strong character and great ability, and beloved and greatly respected by all who knew her. They lived for many years in Poland, Ohio, where they celebrated their golden wedding on July 5, 1881. Maxwell Cornelius died October 7, 1884.

His wife, Mary, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. D. J. Thompson, December 5, 1904, at the age of 94, leaving 11 children, 41 grandchildren, 43 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild. Born in Ireland, August 26, 1810, she came to America with her parents and settled in Pittsburgh. Much of her life was spent in Poland, Ohio, but the last twenty years she lived in Youngstown. A woman of culture and deep religious feeling, she reflected in her children the high ideals of her own life.

Rev. S. A. Cornelius, who is one of the group above, is a native of Ohio. He prepared for college in the Academy at Poland, Ohio, and was graduated from Wooster University in 1882 and from Union Theological Seminary, New York, in 1885 when he became pastor of the Ist. Presbyterian Church, Phillipsburg, Penn. He was called to the church at Santa Cruz, California and in 1891 was called to the pastorate of the 2nd. Presbyterian Church, Oil City, Penn. After filling this pastorate for a number of years he retired from the ministry on account of ill health, and at the present time is living in Wooster, Ohio. He was married in New York City in 1886 to Harriet Caulfield. To this union there were born five children. His eldest son, the Rev. Maxwell Cornelius, a well known Presbyterian minister, at the present time is filling a pastorate at Pittsburgh, Penn.

MARY A. CORNELIUS
DALLAS J. THOMPSON
(Taken in 1866)

Mary A. Cornelius, eighth child of Maxwell Cornelius, was born 3-9-1847 and in 1866 was married to Dallas J. Thompson, the son of Rev. John G. Thompson, who was a pioneer in the early history of Pennsylvania. At the outbreak of the Civil War young Thompson enlisted in Co. H, 78th Regular Penn. Voluntary Infantry, with which he served three years. He then joined Hancock's Ist. Army Corps and was with them until the close of the war, and was mustered out at Washington. He was promoted to corporal and then sergeant. He was with Grant at Vicksburgh, wounded at Stone River and was in the battles of Lookout Mountain, Chicamagua and Missionary Ridge, and also marched with Sherman "to the sea". He was discharged March 10, 1866 with a splendid record of service.

He was married July 7, 1866 to Mary Ann Cornelius and went with his father's family to the West but returned to Pennsylvania the next year. Their first child was born in Caldwell Co., Missouri, in 1867. The photo at the left was taken in 1866 at the time of their marriage. They had four children, two of whom survive—1929.

MRS. WARREN P. WILLIAMSON

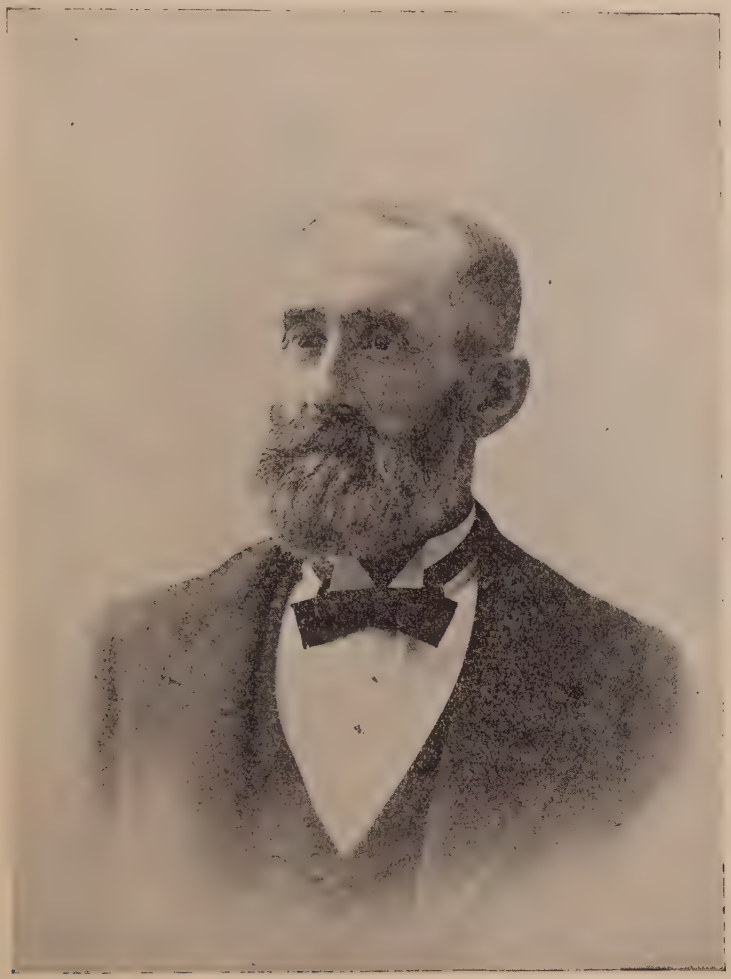
Mary Cornelius Thompson, daughter of Dallas J. and Mary Ann Cornelius, was born in Caldwell Co., Missouri, May 16, 1867, the same year her parents returned to Pennsylvania. Here she grew up, becoming one of the representative women of her community. After finishing school she taught for five years. She also was an ardent church worker and a member of the choir. Possessed of both musical and dramatic ability, she soon became a leader in social and civic life. In 1890 she was married to Warren Piatt Williamson and went to Youngstown, Ohio, where she has been a leader in the social and civic activities of the city, as well as county, state and country. She was first president of the Youngstown Federation of Women's Clubs, president of the Wimodaughsis, president of the Monday Musical club, and organizer of the Y. W. C. A., besides serving on numerous boards, thus giving her time and self for the good of every cause. In state organizations she was a member of the "Pioneers" and the Federation of Women's Clubs. As War Musical chairman she was able to carry out much constructive work in the camps, especially in Camp Sherman. At the call for Community Service she was one of the first to respond and was sent to Hoboken, New Jersey, but the flu and home conditions called her back where she did heroic service during the entire epidemic.

At the close of the War she was one of the organizers of the auxiliary of the American Legion No. 15, and was chosen its first president. At Columbus, Ohio, she was elected chairman of the N. E. District of the Ohio Auxiliary of the A. M. L., comprising 18 counties, and was elected first vice president. As a delegate at Kansas City she was one of the organizers of the National body. In the late political contest she was the first woman ever appointed on the County Central Committee. Mrs. Williamson has not only distinguished herself in local and state service, but has been an extensive traveler, thus gaining much knowledge and experience concerning world problems. Hers has been a busy and useful life, giving freely to public service and at the same time not allowing outside affairs to detract from her duties as wife and mother.

To her much credit must be given for information and help in compiling this work.—C. S. C.

Warren Pyatt Williamson, grandson of Dallas Thompson, enlisted in the World War Aug. 7, 1918 at Columbus, Ohio, and was discharged at Fort Bliss, Texas, Aug. 30, 1919. He was in the Signal Corps as master signal electrician in the 7th Service Signal Battalion Dept. He served on the Texas border as military telegrapher and wireless operator.

Joseph Dallas Williamson was in the 68th Auto Air Craft Battery, 17th sector. He enlisted at Youngstown and was discharged Dec. 20, 1918 at Camp Sherman.



JESSE S. CORNELIUS

Jesse S. Cornelius 3rd, son of Maxwell and Mary Ann Cornelius, was born in Neville Township, Alleghany Co., Penn., February 26, 1836. He finished his education at Westfield, Penn., and for two years followed gardening. The next five years he was boating coal down the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers to New Orleans. In 1859 he went to Laurence county and there married Elizabeth Jane Martin. Seven children were born to them.

In 1862 he enlisted as corporal in Co. D, 14th Penn. Cavalry. He was with Captain Robert Pollock for three months, but owing to an injury caused by being thrown from a horse at Harper's Ferry, he was honorably discharged in April, 1863. The injury left him in poor health and never after was he able to do hard or manual labor.

In 1888 he was elected constable and tax collector which position he held until 1897 when ill health caused him to retire. He was held in the highest esteem in his home town.—E. J. A.

On December 18, 1928, there was married in London, England, at Prince Row Registrar Office, Vivian Cornelius, son of Percy Cornelius of Surry, to Lady Northesk (Miss Jessica Brown) of New York. Vivian Cornelius is a young diplomat stationed at Brussells. The event was witnessed by only five guests after a brief religious ceremony in the Savoy Chapel off the Strand. The officiating clergyman, H. Chapman, on congratulating the couple, made some very complimentary remarks regarding both. Percy Cornelius, father of the groom, is one of the line of the Cornelius families in London.

Mr. Robert Cornelius of McKeesrocks, Pa., tells me that his great-grandfather Isaac, served in the militia from Kent Co., Maryland and later moved to Pennsylvania and is listed in the first census, 1790.

In the list of early settlers there are quite a number of Cornelius names. Some of them do not have the date of their arrival because they came prior to 1651. I found this book in the library of the Maryland Historical Society, and I'm under the impression that the names were only those who settled in that part of the country. —Given by Mildred Cornelius.

Notes given by Charles S. Cornelius: In the record of the first settlers on Long Island given by Phoebe Cornelius, there is the name of Daniel Cornelius, son of Aaron, born late in the 17th Century, around 1660. Also, there was Daniel, son of John (Aaron), born in 1684, either of whom might have been the father of Abram and Isaac of Baltimore.

From the records it seems that there were members of the Cornelius family in Baltimore as early as 1651, which leads me to think they were descendants of the Long Island line, and this links up the family line back to England.

It has been the writer's hope that he could get hold of definite dates as to the settlement of Baltimore and the various members of the family. Perhaps later I may be able to get further details.

Mrs. McKee of Darian, Connecticut, gives us the information that the Baltimore line, in part, came from Andrew Cornelius who had seven children, one of whom was John, born in 1748 in Q. A. County, Maryland. He married Elizabeth Smith and to them ten children were born.

One of the outstanding features of the Cornelius family is the number of men who have entered the ministry and made good as strong, earnest and consecrated workers in the Christian church. One of the brightest of these was John Wesley Cornelius (Page 20, Chap. II) born at Lutherville, Baltimore C., Maryland, 1-25-1835. Of a studious nature, he joined the M. E. Church at 19 years of age and soon after, decided to study for the ministery and for this he entered Dickinson College in 1856 and was received on trial in the Baltimore Conference.

From 1856 to 1888 he filled appointments. From 1885 to 1889 he was editor of the Baltimore Methodist. For 39 years his name was on the roll of the Baltimore Conference. It is easy to name dates but hard to cover within these dates the life of an earnest consecrated minister, a life of service and sacrifice . During this time he also wrote much for religious papers and published a book on "Sabbath Home Reading" which passed its second edition.

It is not possible to measure results of a life like this as the results go down into succeeding generations, and only the Infinite Mind knows the end of such an influence, and we can be thankful for the lives of such men as John Wesley Cornelius.

On October 26, 1927, Mrs. Elmira D. Cornelius, widow of John Wesley Cornelius, celebrated her 94th birthday anniversary at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. S. McKee of 4 Birch Road, Darien, Connecticut. Mrs. Cornelius makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. Duncan McPherson, of Aberdeen, Maryland, but each summer visits her son, E. L. Cornelius, former sergeant at arms of the U. S. Senate, who resides in New Jersey, and her daughter in Connecticut.

As a minister's wife her duties were legion but she always found time to be a mother, in the broadest sense of the word.

Her son and family and a nephew, R. N. Pitzer of Brooklyn, were present at the birthday celebration but owing to an accident Mrs. McPherson was unable to be with her. Decorations were carried out in yellow and orange and the birthday cake was surrounded by 94 candles in rose-bud holders. Mrs. Cornelius received many letters, telegrams, and gifts in great profusion. What a blessing to grow old so gracefully and charmingly as has Mrs. Cornelius.

Later—Mrs. Cornelius (1833-1929) passed away March 29, 1929 at the home of her daughter in Darien, Connecticut, and was laid to rest at Aberdeen, Md., April 1, 1929.

Edgar Livingston Cornelius, only son of Rev. John W. Cornelius (Chap. II, Pages 20-24) was born near Baltimore and educated and admitted to the bar in that city. In 1829 he went to Washington as secretary to Col. Ramsdell, then was elected assistant sergeant at arms of the U. S. Senate and served in that position until 1911 when he was elected to fill the vacancy, December 10, 1912. A life-long Democrat, it was a tribute to his service and ability that he was elected by a Republican Senate to that position. For some time Mr. Cornelius has been a resident of New York City, his present address being The Monmouth Hills Club, Highlands, New Jersey.

Samuel Cornelius, son of Robert Perry Cornelius and Elizabeth Kindler (Chap. II, Page 94), also grandson of James II and Rosa Seitz, descendant of George Seitz who served in the Revolution and was at the Battle of the Brandywine in 1777, was born 1-10-1837 and died in 1910. He enrolled on the 15th of August, 1861, in Company B, 26th Regulars, Illinois Volunteers in the Rebellion, leaving a wife and infant son. He was discharged December 31, 1863 at Scottsbury, Alabama, and re-enlisted in Company B, 26th Regiment, Illinois Volunteers. He was discharged July 17, 1865, at Louisville, Kentucky. He was wounded in the arm in the Battle of Gettysburg and saw Gen. McPherson killed. Out of 103 men in his company, only 11 returned at the close of the war. He married Mary Tressler of Center Co., Penn., and moved to Davis, Ill., where he worked as a carpenter, did some farming and finally conducted a general merchandise store. He had three sons, Chas. R. (1861); Frank (1864), William (1868). He died at Davis, Ill., in 1910. His wife, Mary Tressler Cornelius, also died at Davis in 1901.

On June 28, 1928, Nellie Brewer, daughter of John E. and Jennie Cornelius, passed away at her home in Taft, California. (Chap. IX, Page 34) Miss Brewer was for 27 years a well known teacher in Indiana, Portland, Oregon, and Taft, California. She was an earnest worker in the Methodist church and a member of the Eastern Star. She will be greatly missed. She was a granddaughter of the Rev. Wm. Huff Cornelius of the Baltimore Cornelius line.

The news of the sudden death of G. Kell Cornelius at the Methodist Hospital in Los Angeles, California, was a shock to his home community, as when he left for the West to regain his health no one thought he was in a serious condition.

George Kelley Cornelius, or as he was better known, G. Kell, was born in Everett, Penn., 9-25-1863. For 36 years he was a resident and business man of Pompton Lakes, New Jersey. In 1883 he married Luella May Horton and four sons were born to them, who with the widow survive him. He will be missed as one of Pompton Lake's most respected citizens and leaves a host of friends. He was a member of the school board for over 35 years. See Chap. VII, Page 27.

Dr. Maxwell N. Cornelius, D. D., the sixth son of Maxwell Cornelius and Mary Ann Anderson, was born at McKeesrocks, Penn., 7-30-1842. While quite young his parents moved to a farm in Laurence County. Young Maxwell disilked farming and wished to learn the brick mason's trade, but an accident caused him to lose his right leg and compelled a change of plans. As soon as he was able he entered Vermillion College at Hayesville, Ohio, and afterwards the Western Theological College at Alleghaney, Penn., from where he graduated in 1870. His first charge was at Oakdate followed by one in the 2nd Presbyterian Church in Altoona, Penn. Ill health compelled a change and he went to Pasadena, California, where he built the First Presbyterian Church, at that time the largest on the coast outside of San Francisco. His pastorate there was from 1875 to 1888. In 1889 he was called to Washington, D. C. to the Presbyterian Church and had just finished the building of an $80,000 edifice when death called him away.

He was a pulpit orator of much eloquence, endowed with a splendid personality and was a hard worker, and his passing was a great loss to a large circle of friends and the world at large. He was the author of the hymn, "Some Day We'll Understand," which was sung around the world by Sankey in his revival work, also at the funeral of the Prince of Wales and two of our Presidents. June 30,1868 he married Mary A. Davidson of Monongahela, Penn., and to them four children were born. (Page 87, Chap. II). Dr. Cornelius came from a family noted for service to God and man. His youngest brother, Rev. Samuel Cornelius, was also a noted minister of the Gospel, now retired and living at Wooster, Ohio. No mortal can measure the results of a life of such service, and only God can tell the span of its influence.

William Franklin Hull was born of American parents in Deseronto, Canada, April 22, 1874. He was self-educated and became a very expert electrical engineer. He was employed by the Western Union Telegraph and later by the Michigan Central R. R. as expert electrician. He was married to Minnie Saunders at Desronto, Canada, who bore him two daughters. His home was in Jackson, Michigan and also Grand Rapids, Michigan, where his wife passed away in 1908.

In 1914 he was married to S. Pearl Cornelius at Chatham, Ontario, and after one year in Detroit, Michigan, they moved to Atascadero, California, where he remained until July 8, 1917 when he enlisted at Fort McDowell, Angel Island, San Francisco, in the Signal Corps, was transferred to Fort Leavenworth Training school August1, and to Little Silver, New York, October, 1917.

He left for England Decenmber 24, 1917 and was sent to the front at once. He was promoted to corporal on June 1, 1918 and sergeant on December 1, 1918 and attached to the 22nd Infantry, 2nd Division of the First Field Battalion. Later, on their return from Germany, he was promoted to sergeant of Company A, 322nd Fild Signal Battalion. He saw active service at Toulon, Troyon Sector, Verdun, March 15 to May 13, 1918. Asine Defensive, May 31 to June 5, 1918. Chateau Thierry, June 6 to July 19, 1918. Marbache Sector, August 9-16, 1918. Mihiel Offensive, September 12-16, 1918. Meuse-Argonne Offensive, October 1-10, 1918 and November 11, 1918. He marched into Germany and was stationed at Valendar, Reugsdorf and Coblenz until July, 1919. Arriving in New York on the General Washington, August 3, 1919, he was discharged at the Presidio, San Francisco, August 14, 1919.

He was twice gassed at Belleau Woods in June, 1918 and was in Feild Hospital No. 17 for ten days. He crawled across No-Man's Land in the face of enemy fire and repaired a broken telephone wire and was cited for bravery. Another time he took a German gun-nest of 14 prisoners single-handed, bluffing them with a small wrench as a revolver. One of his cherished treasures was a battled-scarred French flag which he picked up at Chateau-Thierry as the color bearer dropped it. He was chosen one of three to represent his platoon at Paris, July 4, 1918, when Pershing reviewed the army.

He died April 15, 1927 from stomach trouble caused by gassing and exposure during his overseas service.

Clinton Leroy Dayton (Chap. IV, Page 17) was born at Berlin, Michigan, 2-13-1867. His father, John T. Dayton, was born in Connecticut, moved to western New York, studied medicine with a local doctor and afterwards entered Jefferson College, Pennsylvania. He married Martha Rolfe and went to Berlin, Michigan, while the country was new and all woods. Here he built up a large practice.
